Nothing Fishy About This Seafood Delight

This countrywide chain of seafood restaurants offers beautifully prepared fresh fish in an elegantly relaxing atmosphere. I have been to their New York City and Philly locations, and both are exceptionally good.

Warm dark wood colors and white tablecloths give the restaurant an upscale feel, yet the vibe is easygoing and friendly. The seafood offerings are superb. Among the standouts for appetizers are oysters on the half shell, fried calamari served with three dipping sauces, and, best of all, a cool and refreshing plate of yellow fin tuna that has been seared very rare and served with a cool Asian cucumber salad – absolutely sublime.

For a main course, do not miss the Parmesan crusted tilapia with fresh lemon and capers., a dish so light and delicious, it is the kind of thing that would make converts out of anyone who thinks they do not like fish. It is served with mashed potatoes, a comforting and wise accompaniment.

With locations nationwide, there is bound to a McCormick & Schmick's somewhere in your neck of the woods. Find it and enjoy some truly wonderful seafood.
